Events/News

THANK YOU all for your cooperation at dismissal with the changes we have made. It has gone very well, and our kids are safer! That is what's important. Staying in the single lane makes all the difference!

Kindergarten & First Grades

This week we have just started the first science unit, forces and interactions: push and pull. The class read Pushing and Pulling and worked on identifying things that they can push and things that they pull. Students have also been discussing how to make things move and how to make their bodies move in different ways to the Hokey Pokey. Students continue to work on colors and rhyming using nursery rhymes and color books. In Foundations, we are working on letters t, f, b, n, m, u, and i. Students are identifying words that begin with each letter and practicing writing the letters using the Foundations paper.

If you have not signed up for parent/teacher conferences please call me or send me an email (tdavis@arsu.org) to set up a time. I will be holding conferences the week of November 16th and have later times available on the 17th and 18th.
